

Cassandra “Cocoa” Bowden

Sacred Inclusion Speaker
Trauma-Informed Leadership & Belonging
Restorative Culture Architect

Invite Cassandra to Speak

Email: keyspeaker@proton.me

Website: CassandraBowden.com

About Cassondra

Cassondra “Cocoa” Bowden is an Army veteran, culture strategist, and Sacred Inclusion Speaker. Her work centers trauma-informed leadership, belonging, and restorative culture-building inside justice and institutional spaces. She brings lived experience, spiritual grounding, and organizational intelligence to help leaders create dignified environments where people feel seen, safe, and supported.

Signature Keynote

The Sacred Work of Inclusion™

This keynote invites leaders into the discipline of belonging: as ethical practice, trauma awareness, and sacred responsibility. Cassandra blends lived experience, reflective leadership, and practical tools for building dignified, human-centered systems.

Learning Outcomes

- Understand belonging as ethical and operational infrastructure
- Apply trauma-aware leadership practices in justice environments
- Identify invisible labor, burnout, and service fatigue
- Lead with clarity, courage, and restorative presence
- Build cultures rooted in dignity and accountability

Booking & Contact

To invite Cassondra to speak or inquire about availability, please reach out directly or schedule a conversation via her website. All engagements are by request and tailored to context.

Email: keyspeaker@proton.me

Website: CassondraBowden.com